to the brave sons of Bharat Mata who laid down their lives for the upholding of Nationalism
Kerala, now synonymous with political murders, has stood witness to the maximum number of violent annihilation of nationalists, for the mere quelling of political vendetta, by those who follow conflicting political ideologies. Nationalist forces of Kerala have always been at the receiving end of Communists/ Marxists, Islamic fundamentalists & Evangelists, and many a times there being an unholy nexus between them all. In fact, of all these, Left (Communist) sponsored intolerance and brutalities stand so well incorporated into Kerala’s fabric. In fact Left sponsored violence has deemed Kerala a land where human rights violation runs galore as against constitutional obligation which has granted freedom of expression to all.

Communists, the world over, have indulged not only in unbridled violence and bloodshed for furthering their ideology but resorted even to dilution of their own dogmas for convenience sake, as can be discerned from the murder of Subramanian, a 16 year old youth. The death took place on 18 March 1965 in Thanoor, Malappuram where members of Muslim League unleashed a riotous attack on the residences of Jan Sangh karyakartas after having won the assembly election. This was followed by police firing at the unsuspecting karyakartas, instead of reining the mutinous League goons. Subramanian was shot on 3 March 1965, but succumbed to his injuries 15 days later, on 18 March. Communists, instead of condemning the death, supported the perpetrators and justified the violence they unleashed. In two years, they forged an alliance with League and a coalition government was formed. The result was a Communists endowment- a gift for Muslim League- the carving out of Malappuram as a separate district, at the behest of the latter.

It leaves us all wondering- who have the intolerant Communists spared? Communism staked its claim on Kerala soil in 1957 and from then, Kerala stands in the forefront, when it comes to India’s political murders. Anyone with opposing ideologies have been targeted and done away with. Take the instance of Jayakrishnan Master, an educator who was hacked to death by the ruling Marxist party right in front of his students- innocent children as young as nine and ten years of age. This, because he chose to stand with a nationalist party! Left ideology, in the process of wrecking havoc, has not spared even women. The spine chilling butchery of Yashoda, along with her husband Dharmajan is testimony to the fact that even women are not safe when it comes to the knife wielding Communists. Other victims among women- Kausalya and Ammu Amma too have met with violent deaths. Barbarism is yet another Communist forte, when it comes to making murders more gruesome, the instances of Subramanian and Rajan being burnt alive after being doused with petrol; chopping of Satyan’s head etc stand in the forefront.

What more, Communists have not exempted even animals, be it the large contingent of reptiles charred to death at Parassinikadavu Snake park or those numerous dogs whose necks have been sliced, making them bleed to death. Be it humans, birds and animals or the environment, Communists ensure that destruction is meted out if it is not to their relish. Take the instance of Anoop a victim of Left intolerance. He was spearheading the remonstration for environmental preservation of Kuttyadi, Western Ghats. The Marxists who detested his clarion calls did away with him by hurling a country bomb, killing him on the spot.

Left political games have cast a devastating, debilitating mark on the numerous educational institutions and university campuses of Kerala. In fact a strange concept of ‘freedom of expression’, supportively vocalized by their ideologues, have always justified the intolerance and carnage they indulge in. The way this is being ‘enjoyed’ on campuses of Kerala’s educational institutions is a well known fact. Clubbed with anti-national student groups and backed by religious fundamentalist organizations, Kerala’s college campuses have witnessed how Durgadas, PS Anu, Sujith, Kim Karunakaran, Bimbi, Murugananda, Vishal, Sachin Gopal and many others have been done away with. In fact, taking in specific, the murders of Anu, Sujith and Kim Karunakaran stand unparalleled in the history of campus politics.

Aahuti pays obeisance to the departed souls and bring before the nation, the sacrifice made by these martyrs. Their eternal absence has left families grieving in the dark, in perpetual penury, as most of the victims have been from humble backgrounds, Dalit and other backward communities or the minority sections. These brave, unsung heroes would have been pillars of the nation’s strength. Adding to the woes of the families of those slain is the fact that many of the surviving members are continually harassed by political goons, on flimsy or nonexistent allegations.

We extend our heartfelt gratitude to all who have helped us in every way possible, in this endeavour. We are grateful to the support from our ground level karyakartas, who toiled along with us in gathering and compiling data - our sincere thankfulness to karyakartas Shri VN Gopinathan, Shri Sohanlal Sharma and various organizations like Kesari Weekly, Jnanabhumi Daily, Organiser, HaindavaKeralam.com, Samvada.org, Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee Research Foundation in special, for the same. And above all, deeply indebted to Shri BL Santhosh, National Joint General Secretary (Org.), Bharatiya Janata Party for his guidance and support, without which the conceptualization of this work remains incomplete.
Lessons of history suggest that no ideology has shed more blood than Communism, with the murders lying a notch above all other Fascist ideologies. Globally, it is synonymous with violence, brutality and totalitarianism. Unsurprisingly, ‘Kannur Model’ of CPI (M) too, where Swayamsevaks are perpetually targeted and murdered by Communists, is a natural corollary of Stalinist USSR or Maoist China where voice of dissent and opposition was crushed with the iron fist of party and State. Incidentally the term ‘Kannur Model’ (an effective way to silence any dissenting voice and assert political power of Communists in the region) has proved to be a template for the murders to follow in CPI (M) circles. Hence situation prevailing in Kannur and other communist strongholds is not a locally originated scenario.

The cruel and abhorrent blood sport of CPI (M) in Kerala, especially Kannur (which stands accounted for a disproportionately large number of causalities), started with the murder of Vadikkal Ramakrishnan, a Dalit in 1969. An active Swayamsevak, Ramakrishnan had brought in scores of Communists to the nationalist fold. Since then in Kerala, around 270 swayamsevaks and sympathisers have been murdered. Of these, 232 were killed by the CPI (M) and the rest mostly by Islamists. The number of injured is almost six times as much as the number of those who were murdered. In spite of this, police torturing and fake cases are quite common, especially when CPM/LDF is in power.

The main reason behind the attacks on our karyakartas in Kannur is the flow of cadres from CPI (M) to the RSS. Most of our Karyakartas in North Kerala, especially Kannur, have a Communist past. And the RSS’s unwillingness to submit to the terror and hegemony of CPM, especially in the strongholds of Kannur, is intolerable for them. Another objective of this unabated Red Terror on Hindu nationalists is to lure voters from the well entrenched Islamists, as a tool of CPM’s perennial minority appeasement policy. They publicly boast about its attacks on the Sangh, just as the party holds ‘Beef festivals’ to tap fundamentalist votes.

The violence meted out is primarily meant to deter RSS’s rank and file from growing further. Akin to other Semitic religions, apostasy is an unreasonable sin in Communism as well and is awarded with death. With CPM in power, Kerala has been witnessing a spate of violence and murders, as if Kannur Model is being promulgated in other parts of the state too. Both CPI (M) State Secretary Kodiyeri and Kannur District Secretary P Jayarajan have openly called for violence on RSS and other nationalist organizations. In Thiruvananthapuram, BJP’s state committee office was attacked by assailants and bombed thereafter.

Media in Kerala (with a few notable exceptions) is mostly controlled by Leftists or staffed by known Marxists. The ‘cultural leaders’, who are expected to raise the grievances of civil society, are scared of Marxist aggression. Tongues of Leftist intelligentsia have always been wagging in defence of CPM and its murder politics without any shame or remorse. Mainstream national media seems to be blissfully unaware of this grave situation and thereby has been turning a convenient blind eye. Civic society must come up against this state-sponsored terror. We hope, by documenting political violence and conducting seminars across the country to enlighten public regarding atrocities committed by Communists, the nation develops awareness against the real intolerance brigade lurking in the country.

Pranja Pravah Samyojak
Kannur district of Kerala has gained countrywide publicity for the politics of violence lasting over four decades, which no government could so far settle. It is a well-known fact, publicly admitted by one and all, except Right-thinking people all over the country are naturally motivated by sheer intolerance and were totally unilateral.

Marxist psychology had first come to light way back in 1948, when a protest procession organized by Communist party had already made Kannur district its stronghold. RSS Pracharaks who went to Kannur for starting work were not only threatened but socially boycotted, while, by misuse of Governmental machinery.

No other party could work unhindered and exercise their freedom of speech and expression. It is in Kannur District there are many Panchayats with ‘Hindu Fundamentalists’. It is a matter of ‘CPI(M) controlled protection to the minority communities from the threat of Hindu Fundamentalists’. It is a hard fact which cannot be an abiding reality in Kannur district as much as in any other area of India. This is a fact which cannot be wished away or denied by the practice of the philosophy of liquidation. Shahaks are an inalienable part of it.

One strong and remarkable aspect of this politics of murder is that the CPI(M) did not confine its opposition to Sangh and BJP alone. All other political parties were also at the receiving end. It was sheer intolerance, unbecoming and unacceptable in a democratic set up. The naked truth is that CPI(M) considers the whole of Kannur district as their sole preserve and they have a monopoly of power in the district. No other party could work unhindered and exercise their fundamental rights provided by the constitution. If anyone tries to break this unwritten law it would be at their own peril.

There is another subtle psychological reason for the CPI(M) to indulge in open attacks on Sangh Parivar. It is a part of their strategy to win over massive minority support in the deeply communalized atmosphere in Kerala. Their open is that they are the only bulwark against the RSS from further annihilating the minorities. It is CPI(M), they claim that gives protection to the minority communities from the threat of Hindu Fundamentalists.

It seems that there should be a three-point agenda which can settle the issue once and for all. One strange and remarkable aspect of this politics of murder is that the CPI(M) did not confine its opposition to Sangh and BJP alone. All other political parties were also at the receiving end. It was sore intolerance, unbecoming and unacceptable in a democratic set up. The naked truth is that CPI(M) considers the whole of Kannur district as their sole preserve and they have a monopoly of power in the district. No other party could work unhindered and exercise their fundamental rights provided by the constitution. If anyone tries to break this unwritten law it would be at their own peril.

Girija, his elder daughter, miraculously escaped and was admitted to a hospital. The background for the murder was an obvious settling of scores. Girija was previously assaulted by Marxist goons for her active role in Rashtriya Siviik Samiti. The matter was taken up legally by the family, with the proceedings going on in Court. However, the attackers were wary and persisted on seeking a compromise with Dharmajan and his family regarding the matter. Violence for Utopia

- Meenakshi Lekhi,
  Member of Parliament, New Delhi

“We should learn (how to kill adversaries) from Bengalis. They do it without shedding even a drop of blood. They (rivals) are kidnapped and buried in deep pits with a sack of salt added. The world will not (even) know about the blood, picture (of the victim) or news,” as quoted by Abdullahukty regarding a statement made by Pinarayi Vijayan.

Recently, during my visit to the village of Pinarayi in Kannur, I witnessed heart-rending conditions, where residents spent their day to day life amidst of terror—a place where shameless Communist goons don’t even spare children! From the little kids who witnessed the cold-blooded murder of KT. Jayakrishnan Master to seven year old Karthik, whose hand was slashed after the election victory celebrations of Communists in 2016, generations suffer owing to due to the barbarism of red terror. When a person who asked fellow party men to follow the Bengal model of resorting to live burial of opponents after stuffing them inside salted sacks to avoid blood spill while they are being killed, now rules the state. He only want to save God’s own country. Expecting justice and peace in Kerala from the Pinarayi Vijayan government is like giving a thief the key to your home.

In Kerala since 1997, the CPI (M) has maintained power as an influential political party. It has used assassination politics and Marxist fascism to the core to keep control over the electorate. Numerous BJP and RSS activists have been butchered in the state, mostly in North Kerala. State sponsored political violence was never restricted to Kerala alone. In 1997, Buddhadeb Bhattacharjee, in reply to an Assembly question, said that between 1977 (when they came to power) and 1996, 28,000 political assassinations were done in West Bengal. Between 1997 and 2009 the total number of murders committed was 27408. So a total of 55,408 people were annihilated by the communist regime. It means a yearly average of 1707, a monthly average of 149 and a daily average of five. In other words, in every four hours and 50 minutes, one person was killed for political reasons in West Bengal. A former Member of Parliament from Communist party, AP Abdullahukty alleged that then Kerala CPI (M) state secretary Pinarayi Vijayan had asked party leaders to follow the “Bengal line” of killing political enemies without shedding a drop of blood. Abdullahukty writes that Vijayan said this in a party meeting held at Azhikodan memorial party office in Kannur on March 5, 2008, ahead of a peace meeting convened by the district collector following violence in Kannur. “We should learn (how to kill adversaries) from Bengalis. They do it without shedding even a drop of blood. They (rivals) are kidnapped and buried in deep pits with a sack of salt added. The world will not (even) know about the blood, picture of the (victim) or news,” Abdullahukty told media, quoting Pinarayi Vijayan. According to Kutty, apart from him, CPI (M) MPs P Karunakaran, P Sathidevi and CPI(M) MLAs from Kannur, also were present at the meeting.

In order to understand Communist intolerance, we need to take a look at global as well as domestic picture and identify the method in t misadness. Left-wing terrorism had its roots in 19th and early 20th-century anarchist terrorism and became pronounced during the Cold War. Modern left-wing terrorism developed in the context of the political unrest of 1968. In Western Europe, important groups of these included West German Red Army Faction (RAF), Indian Red Brigades, French Action Directe (AD), and Belgian Communist Combatant Cells (CCC). Asian groups have included Japanese Red Army and Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam, although the latter organisation later adopted nationalist terrorism. Joseph Stalin was as evil as Adolf Hitler and worse than Mussolini, killing millions of his own countrymen. Mao Tse Tung in China was another communist leader whose policies of dictatorship and state control resulted in millions of deaths. Numerous books were burnt and universities throughout the country closed down under Mao’s cultural revolution from 1956-76.

The Communist leadership in India were not ideologically or physically bred in underground. Nor did they go through the method in t misadness. - Sonia Gandhi’s UPA 1 government when the CPI (Maoist), which came to that was within 4 months of the formation of Naxalbari movement, which resulted in the massacre of thousands of innocent people. On February 27, 2013, responding to Question Number 371, the Union Minister of State in Ministry of Home Affairs informed Rajya Sabha that since the year 2003 till 2013, the Left Wing Extremists had killed 788 people in India.

Left-wing Extremism (LWE) continues to remain as one of the biggest challenges to India’s internal security. Its intensity persisted especially in three states – Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand and Orissa – apart from a significant presence in West Bengal, Bihar, and Maharashtra. At the same time, left-wing extremists have been expanding their presence in parts of some of the states of North East and South of India and few of the urban areas.

Although reportedly Maoists collect Rs.1,500 crores annually through extortion, there is no exact estimate of the enormity of Maoist economy. Their economy is based mainly on extortion money/levies—from business houses, road contractors, tendu contractors, bus and truck owners, petrol pumps and shopkeepers. It is suspected that Maoists are into propitiative cultivation in their strongholds, in areas of Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Odisha and Bihar to finance their movement. Mining corporations also contribute to a great extent to their economy, as taxpayers to the Maoists.

Congress and Communists are two sides of the same coin. It is the Congress party which facilitated the Communists to infiltrate every organ of the State. The closest incident which came to that was within 4 months of the formation of Sonia Gandhi’s UPA 3 government when the CPI (Maoist), was founded on September 21, 2004, by way of an extra-constitutional authority called National Advisory Council (packed with Communists) who put in maximum effort to further the Communist agenda of their benefactor.

We have probably not even scratched the surface of the network of family and personal relationships through which the Nehru dynasty has completely dominated and controlled the entire intellectual, historical and journalistic landscape of India. Many ‘top of the line’ editors and reporters have been deeply connected with Left organisations directly and indirectly. The typical JNU Nehrusingh Communist Left-Liberal ideologues have perpetrated some stranglehold on India’s journalism, media and intellectual space and very cleverly influence public conscience. But when it comes to brutalities by Communists in Bengal and elsewhere, they choose to be silent.

Utopia was never meant to work. Although Leftists portray Kerala, God’s own country as a perfect society—a Utopia—where all can live in peace and happiness, facts released by National Crime Records Bureau tell a different story. The Left rules their stronghold areas like gulags and sponsor not only assassinations but also protect killers. And if they are convicted, their families too stand protected. They maintain absolute power with no freedom of expression in the red corridors. Women, children and even Dalits are ostracised if they fail to comply with the diktats of party goons. Media and intelligence has been abetting crime by trivialising the unlawful actions of ‘comrades’. Unless proven otherwise, in political murders, the state-police leadership must initiate criminal prosecution not only against the criminals but also against those political leaders who ensure that these crimes take place. State governments must undertake actions to provide compensation for victims of brutal political holocausts in the killing fields of Bengal and Kerala.

Will there ever be a time of peace and political freedom in Kerala?

Death staring at their Faces, the Students Ran for Dear Life and Plunged into the Raging River Pamba

It was on 17 September 1996 that the horrific Parumala murder took place. Three Akhila Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad activists - Anu, Sujith and Kim, who were students of Devaswom Board College, Parumala, were cornered by a violent mob of SFI, CITU and DYFI goons. The gang threatened to kill them, owing to their active participation in the college ABVP unit. Fearing that death was just a few inches away, the students ran for dear life and jumped into River Pamba, hoping to swim across to safety. But the heartless Marxists goons pelted stones with such severity that the boys found it impossible to swim across the tide. There were a few womenfolk who stood witness to the entire incident, who were washing clothes. They tried to rescue the boys by throwing their sarees into the water, hoping that the boys could catch hold of them and climb to safety. But the women were menacingly chased away by the SFI goons, who showered abuses and pelted stones at them. The helpless women had no option but flee the place. And much to the glee of the sadistic goons, the boys were drowned.

Kerala was ruled by Communists then, who did away with every shred of evidence. They even went to the extent of manipulating the post-mortem report. A fresh testimony was created, stating that the boys were drunk, which led to their being drowned. With the aid of these forged evidences, the Marxist leadership successfully won the case. In fact, when the matter was raised in Kerala Assembly by then MLA TM Jacob, EK Nayanar who was Chief Minister then, asked in a ridiculing manner “why it mattered so much for you, since they belonged to the RSS”!!!

An incident as shocking as Paumala murder stands as being one of the rarest when it comes to the horrors of campus murders. Both Kim and Anu was the only child of their parents. Anu, at the time of death, was the secretary of the college Art’s Club. A multi-talented personality, he was always in the forefront of any extra-curricular activity, be it arts or sports. An all-rounder, he had proven his versatility in the rendition of mridangam and tabla as well. Academically brilliant, Anu was member of the junior football team of Pathanamthitta district. His parents, both retired now (father PC Sasidharan Nair is a retired postal service employee and mother, a retired school teacher) languish in the memory of their dear son, living amidst those numerous trophies and citations that stand testimony to their son’s brilliance, which was cruelly snatched away.

Like Anu, Kim too was the only son of his parents. His parents plunged into a state of extreme shock, after hearing the news of her son’s murder, from which they could never recover. Both parents passed away thereafter. His parents had built a Sree Narayana Guru Smriti Mandiram in memory of their son.

Sujith’s father Sivadasan Nair, who was working abroad, resigned his job and reached home turf following his son’s murder. He continues to live in dejection, pining away at the sheer injustice meted out to his son.

Martyred on: 1 December 2006 - Thrivananthapuram

Following the murder of BJP karyakartas Shimjith and Kunjumon Narayanan on 2 January 2002, by NDF led Islamic fundamentalists, with the aid of workers of Muslim League, on the beach of Marad, Kozhikode, the area continued to remain tense. Trouble brewed once again on the fateful night of 2 May 2003, when a large mob of around a hundred armed Islamist fundamentalists arrived in boats at night. Another large gang eased out of a house near Marad Juma Masjid. Armed with swords and machetes, clutching Coke cans filled with gelatin, they rushed in from all directions and within minutes, they wreaked havoc hacking the eight BJP karyakartas who were relaxing on the beach, after a hard day’s fishing. Chandran, Dasan, Gopalan, Krishnan, Madhavan, Prajeesh, Pushparaj and Santhosh were hacked to death and their bodies mutilated. Even their private organs gouged out. The killers then escaped into the local Juma Masjid.

The perpetrators also threw bombs with the purpose of afflicting a larger number of deaths. However the bombs did not explode. A sizeable cache of swords, knives and bombs were stored in the Marad Juma Masjid, which was later confiscated by police. The cache was supposed to have been kept ready, with intent of unleashing a mass massacre, which fortunately did not take place.

The Marad Massacre revealed before the state, the fast emerging religious fundamentalism in Kerala, to which investigating agencies seemed to have had an easygoing approach. Investigations unearthed a huge cache of weapons including 17 bombs. According to former police commissioner, “It was an operation carried out by a well-knit organization. It was a quick and sudden onslaught which was over in 10 minutes. The attack came from a particular community.”

Police also recovered explosives and arms from the local Juma Masjid two days after the killings. A special investigation team of Kerala Crime Branch filed charge sheets against 147 people accused of involvement or complicity in the crime. (According to the Marad Commission report, the notes prepared by then Kozhikode Police Commissioner speak of hundreds of local Muslim women converging at the mosque to prevent the police from entering it and arresting the murderers).

There was public uproar against the same, which was following by persistent demands for a judicial enquiry. Under pressure, the ruling UDF government under AK Anthony appointed Thomas P Joseph (District & Sessions Judge) as the Commission of Inquiry. The report was submitted in February 2006, with the LDF ministry tabling the report in September 2006.

According to the judicial commission, it was “a clear communal conspiracy, with fundamentalist and terrorist organizations involved”. The commission’s also recommends a further inquiry, involving Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) about the involvement of foreign agencies in the riots.

Martyred on: 7 March 2008 - Kannur
The final blow dealt by Marxist goons. With no reason to retaliate. The Marxis;ts' thirst for violence received nationwide notice, with protests launched against the Left brigade all over the country. This forced the red brigade to put an end to their murderous blood bath cultur.
It was in 1996 that BJP's Kannur district secretary Panniyan Chandran was killed by CPI (M) criminals in front of his wife. The party suffered a major setback after his murder. But Jayakrishnan Master undertook the responsibility and led the organization in Kannur, with support of another 14 full-time committed party activists. The tireless and committed work of Jayakrishnan Master boosted party activities in Kannur. The increasing public support and dedicated work of Jayakrishnan Master harrowed CPI (M)’s district leaders which led them to plan to ‘liquidate’ him. On various occasions CPI (M)’s local leaders issued open warnings about “procuring their next target very soon”.

Jayakrishnan Master’s crime, according to Marxist ideology, was his deep rooted belief in an ideology which they could not brook. The CPI (M) murdered Jayakrishnan Master only because of the escalating popularity of the deceased.

It was Anoop who fell victim to Left ire. Marxists goons, who decided to wreak immediate vengeance. The mammoth attendance for an RSS event disturbed the CPI (M) goons. What followed was unbridled violence. Sajith, who suffered mortal wounds, bled to death on the spot. Biju, who was seriously injured miraculously escaped.

On the fateful 1 December 1999 at around 10.35 am, while Jayakrishnan Master was conducting classes for students of class 6, his bodyguard (provided by state government of Kerala to protect his life due to threats from Communist criminals) stationed outside the classroom disappeared. In a fraction of a second, seven CPI (M) activists entered the classroom, shouted slogans and warned the students against making any kind of movement. They proceeded to block the classroom’s entrance, took sword-sticks and razors in their hands, came near Jayakrishnan Master and hacked him numerous times. Jayakrishnan Master fell on the floor. They continued the stabbing-hacking spree and after more than 48 ante-mortem injuries all over his body, Jayakrishnan Master breathed his last within five minutes.

After confirming his death, one of the CPI (M) assailants scrolled a warning on the blackboard, meant for the witnesses—children and other teachers that if anyone gave evidence or testified to the police or Court, they would be murdered in the same brutal manner. With this, the goons left the place in celebratory procession, walking along the public road brandishing blood-stained weapons.

A gruesome murder, one of the most heinous in the state's recorded history, it was committed in front of students less than 11 years old, an age where minds of children are most impressionable. The tiny tots, who were mortified with terror, underwent some of the most traumatic phases in life, with the incident leaving an indelible scar on their minds. The children had to undergo stringent counseling sessions for protracted periods, spanning over several years, to overcome the trauma of the brutality they witnessed.

The Communist Legacy of Violence

- Tarun Vijay
  Member, Rajyasabha

The savagery of Left wing violence often competes with Talibanis who continuously harass surviving family members of slain political rivals on flimsy or non-existent allegations.

India is passing through a phase of war between Dharmic and Adharmic elements, as is being discerned from Kashmir to Chattisgarh. Northeast and more precipitately in Kerala, which was once known as 'God's Own Country'.

It has been a war against those who stand for the civilizational values of Bharat and have been resisting the predatory tactics of foreign invaders since many centuries. Though exterior forms have changed, the purpose of the enemies of Hindu dharmic society and traditions remain the same - elimination of everything that represents the fragrance of the soil and impose alien, de-Indianized ideology by changing mindset. It is the same colonial hawkish mentality of the soil and impose alien, de-Indianized ideology by changing mindset. It is the same colonial hawkish mentality.

The saga of Communist intolerance stemmed up in 1957, when the first elected Marxist government under CPI (M) leader EMS Namboothiripad took over the state’s reins. It has resulted in a spate of ideological violence against RSS, ABVP, VHP and Jansangh- BJP workers. CPI and CPI (M) have spared no efforts in turning Kerala into a bloody battlefield of political murders, giving the state the top spot in murders. Their unethical acts are accompanied by the most philistine and uncivilized scenes, as can be seen from the manslaughter of Jayakrishnan Master. His crime was to stand up against violent acts and defeat extremism, and his murder was the second among ABVP activists. As has been the practice every year, ABVP conducted Sarawati Puja at the college entrance, with pictures of Goddess Saraswati and Swami Vivekananda. A gang of Islamist fundamentalist goons along with NDF and Campus Front extremists barged into the college campus on nine bikes, armed with swords, karate weapons, acid bulbs etc. shouting “we will not put up with the dogs holding saffron flags” and unleashed violence.

It is not just the alien ideologies and mindset that is at work but funds and strategic training too have an alien colour. The RSS, ABVP, VHP and Jansangh- BJP workers. Marxist goons/unscrupulous elements unleashed terror on a group of BJP karyakartas, under the garb of protest, at Kayappamangalam on February 2, 2017. A scene of unrest was witnessed in the premises of Thillankeri panchayat office at 7.30 pm, by a large gang of heavily armed CPI (M) goons. His murder is believed to be the result of Marxist conspiracy indulged in by party bigwigs. Eye witnesses stated that the Marxist goons stood menacingly near the bleeding Vineesh, brandishing weapons threatening anyone from taking him to the hospital. 'The police had to arrive, to shift the profusely bleeding Vineesh to hospital. But it was too late by then,' said local sources.

Vineesh was accompanied by Satheesh, a co-worker of BJP, who was also grievously injured in the attack.

student, he was detained by Communist goons in the wee morning hours of 1 January at Kottayamkaadu, where he was stabbed to death. Sujith’s friend Akhil suffered grievous injuries on his torso and thighs.

Amidst the scenario of Kerala’s political murders, Marxists have, via Kanjikode mass murder, successfully showcased a new genre of brutality. Only apostles of political ideology who are bereft of humanity will undertake as their endeavour, the task of charring to death a family, at a time the members of the family are fast asleep.

Kanjikode murders reveal the incident’s proximity with another murder which took place in early eighties, at a time when the coastal area of Thrissur was being ravaged by Communists. Two BJP karyakartas Rajan and Subramanian were doused with petrol and burnt alive by the blood thirsty Communists. Other incidents that draw parallel—setting to flames Parassinikadavu Snake park, where it was proved that the setting of flames was no coincidence. Even the cowshed at Kannan’s residence was not spared. Kanjikode will remain etched in people’s mind. Widespread protests rose all over Kerala as a mark of protesting against the incident, which shook the entire state.
CPI-CPM clashes: speaks a lot about the violent Left

When one looks at the murderous saga of CPI and CPM, when sickness and hammers have clashed aimlessly in their own midst, a total of 23 murders have been committed in Kerala, out of which CPI has lost 16 party-men and the CPM, seven. In some of the instances, party members are said to have hired quotation teams to execute murderous tasks. The first to fall victim to such murder spire by the hiring of quotation teams is CPI leader of Koilandy, Chathothu Sreedharan Nair. The second is Subhash, of Pettah, Tripunithura, who was murdered in 1989. He was AITUC member. The murder was executed by notorious quotation team ‘Eighteen and Half Company’.

In 1992, in Muvattupuzha district, CPI allegedly unleashed terror against CPM activists. In the attack that took place, CPM branch secretary of Pazipra KM Kunju Baba was stabbed to death. However, no one stands convicted for the murder that took place.

In Kollam district, the CPI is said to have done away with three CPM activists. Raghu, a native of Sankranthi, TK Thankappan, native of Nattakam, Koorali Sreedharan Pillai. Thankappan was CPI state committee member as well. In an altercation that took place in 1972, former district panchayat president VK Gopinath sustained grievous injuries.

Following the split in the Communist party in Palakkad district, the number of those murdered in CPI and CPM stands escalated. When CPI declares the names of Velappan of Kathakkancherry Balan, Mangalam Dam Jose as those murdered, CPI retaliates with the names of Kuttan, Thankappan, native of Nattakam, Koorali Sreedharan Pillai.

Murders by antithetical group: District-Wise Kerala

In Kollam district has stood witness to umpteen instances of mutually indulging in open vitriol against each other. Later, the sole witness in the murder was brutally done away with.

47 year old Chathothu Sreedharan Nair of Kollandi was murdered out of vengeance in his wife’s residence in Cherootti Road, Kozhikode, because he chose to leave CPI and move to CPI folds. Along with him, 60 others too migrated to the CPI arena. This led to the party becoming a stronghold in Kollandi. CPI has alleged that a quotation team hired by CPI, Alappuzha stands witness to the never ending strife between CPI and CPM, with six lives having been claimed by the warring factions.

CPI comrades allegedly hacked to death AP Mohanan of CPI, on 26 June 1986, in front of his mother Kunjiparam. The reason was Mohanan’s step towards initiating a peace talk between the warring CITU and AITUC of Paravoor. He was chased out of his house by the attackers, when he had just sat for a lunch prepared by his mother. Mohanan was cornered within 20 km of his residence and murdered. The murderers, numbering 19, were summoned by the parent party CPM. In spite of their having been sentenced to life imprisonment, they walked out their prison term, without completing it, thanks to the interference of then EK Nayanar government. The CPI continues to believe that the real culprits have not been brought to book.

CPI’s Vijayan, was murdered at Kottarappalam. As he tried to take refuge behind a police personnel, Marxist attackers beat up the policeman and went ahead with the murder.

Mannar Padukkara Unnikrishnan, PK Viswanathan of Manjeri, Kainakkari Raghuappan are amongst those CPM activists who were allegedly murdered by CPI cadres.

On 20 June 1978, CPI leader CG Sudheendran, a teacher in Alappuzha Muhammadans High School was murdered while he was at his ancestral home at Kalarkkode. The CPI assailants lay in wait for him inside the house, as he entered, to convey to his mother, the news of his daughter Renu having secured a job in SBT. All the eight were convicted, with one being conferred a life sentence.

Balakrishnan of CPI was murdered in an almost similar style, almost three decades back, when Aravukodu temple festivities were going on. Balakrishnan, a KSYF activist was on his way to get a tape repaired, when he was allegedly confronted by CPI activists. He was murdered, with over 46 hacks on his body.

In 1972, CPI Thiruvalla taluk committee secretary Pullat NT Thomas was allegedly murdered by CPM activists at Anjilathanam. The murder took place when peace talks to settle an ongoing unrest among farmers turned violent.

Kollam district has stood witness to umpteen instances of strife between CPI and CPM. But the murder of Safij (AITYF) is one that remains fresh in the minds of CPI activists— one that will ensure that the gaping rift between the two political factions remains sore forever.

Kerala has always promoted itself as a peaceful state with secular credentials. The state takes great pride in proclaiming about co-existence of all religions, with no incidences of rioting. However, reality is a far cry from what appears on the surface. Beneath the peaceful façade of Kerala lurks the dark underbelly of political violence and extermination. According to a report in the Financial Express, Kerala has had more “political riots” than any other state, with more than half of India’s cases. In 2015, Kerala recorded 164 rioting cases per million population—the country’s highest rate, followed by Bihar (129) and Karnataka (126). National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) data shows that Kerala in 2015, has raced ahead of bigger and more populous states in recording political or riot cases. Students of colleges, many of which are politically affiliated, are known to routinely clash against police forces and against each other at major public places.

India is the fourth worst affected country, when it comes to terrorism. Maoists continue to be the biggest threat to India’s security and the National Consortium for Study of Terrorism and Responses to Terrorism contracted with the US State Department has revealed that Taliban, Islamic State and Boko Haram are the three deadliest terror groups globally. These have been followed by CPI (Maoist), a banned outfit. The report entails the mammouth diversity in the perpetrators/terrorist groups involved in attacks in the country, with 45 outfits active across the country. Academicians, leftists and so called seculars continue to hail and harp the Kerala model of development but the general public remains unaware of the cost of this development. When Communists gained power by the ballot in 1957 for the first time in Kerala, they brought along with them the political philosophy of suppressing dissent by indulging in political killings. These ‘mafia’ killings have been a continuing trend in Kerala for the last six decades. Irrespective of whether in power or not the spate of killing people associated with their ideology has remained the same. The Communist Party has been wedded to the cult of violence to achieve its political objective. Murder is a political instrument in their hands.

The entire exercise of documenting the atrocities perpetrated by Communists unabatedly is just a beginning. Kerala has lost hundreds of young nationalists in their fight against this totalitarian regime. We need to focus on bringing this truth to the general public. And this is just a beginning in the story.

We have made every possible effort in collecting details pertaining to martyrs, from various sources. However, there could be omissions, which could have happened unknowingly. We apologize for the same. We also request an update in case of any exclusion or error regarding data or names, in connection with the book. The same would be incorporated in the next edition.
The first edition of ‘Aahuti’ was released by Prime Minister Shri. Narendra Modi on 25 September 2016 at the National Council Meeting of Bharatiya Janata Party, Kozhikode

The book release of Aahuti was rendered by Honourable Prime Minister of India Shri Narendra Modi, on 25 September 2016. Paying obeisance to the Balidanis and hailing their efforts as penance, Shri Narendra Modi pointed out in clear terms that violence, as a way, is undemocratic", which should “never be resorted to”, just because one “fails to tow in line” with the ideology of another political faction. “The helpless cries of Kerala’s karyakartas have probably not reached Delhi. But today, I urge our karyakartas not to treat Aahuti as just another book you received during your stay in Kerala. Instead Aahuti should be debated upon and contemplated over, in all states of Bharat, atleast in three or four venues reapectively, so that the voice (of those who have been wronged) reach Delhi.

“Shri Narendra Modi also urged the entire nation to stand up with the slain Karyakartas, for “their life and sacrifice remains exemplary and should serve as catalyst in stirring awake the flames of democracy, over which intellectuals and other esteemed seers must ponder over.”
