Preface

Kerala, now synonymous with political murders, has stood witness to the maximum number of violent annihilation of nationalists, for the mere quelling of political vendetta, by those who follow conflicting political ideologies. Nationalist forces of Kerala have always been at the receiving end of Communists/ Marxists, Islamic fundamentalists & Evangelists, and many a times there being an unholy nexus between them all. In fact, of all these, Left (Communist) sponsored intolerance and brutalities stand so well incorporated into Kerala's fabric. In fact Left sponsored violence has deemed Kerala a land where human rights violation runs galore as against constitutional obligation which has granted freedom of expression to all.

Communists, the world over, have indulged not only in unbridled violence and bloodshed for furthering their ideology but resorted even to dilution of their own dogmas for convenience sake, as can be discerned from the murder of Subramanian, a 16 year old youth. The death took place on 18 March 1965 in Thanoor, Malappuram where members of Muslim League unleashed a riotous attack on the residences of Jan Sangh karyakartas after having won the assembly election. This was followed by police firing at the unsuspecting karyakartas, instead of reining the mutinous League goons. Subramanian was shot on 3 March 1965, but succumbed to his injuries 15 days later, on 18 March. Communists, instead of condemning the death, supported the perpetrators and justified the violence they unleashed. In two years, they forged an alliance with League and a coalition government was formed. The result was a Communists endowment- a gift for Muslim League- the carving out of Malappuram as a separate district, at the behest of the latter.

It leaves us all wondering- who have the intolerant Communists spared? Communism staked its claim on Kerala soil in 1957 and from then, Kerala stands in the forefront, when it comes to India's political murders. Anyone with opposing ideologies have been targeted and done away with. Take the instance of Jayakrishnan Master, an educator who was hacked to death by the ruling Marxist party right in front of his students- innocent children as young as nine and ten years of age. This, because he chose to stand with a nationalist party! Left ideology, in the process of wrecking havoc, has not spared even women. The spine chilling butchery of Yashoda, along with her husband Dharmajan is testimony to the fact that even women are not safe when it comes to the knife wielding Communists. Other victims among women- Kausalya and Ammu Amma too have met with violent deaths. Barbarism is yet another Communist forte, when it comes to making murders more gruesome, the instances of Subramanian and Rajan being burnt alive after being doused with petrol; chopping of Satyan's head etc stand in the forefront.

What more, Communists have not exempted even animals, be it the large contingent of reptiles charred to death at Parassinikadavu Snake park or those numerous dogs whose necks have been sliced, making them bleed to death. Be it humans, birds and animals or the environment, Communists ensure that destruction is meted out if it is not to their relish. Take the instance of Anoop a victim of Left intolerance. He was spearheading the remonstrance for environmental preservation of Kuttyadi, Western Ghats. The Marxists who detested his clarion calls did away with him by hurling a country bomb, killing him on the spot.

Left political games have cast a devastating, debilitating mark on the numerous educational institutions and university campuses of Kerala. In fact a strange concept of 'freedom of expression', supportively vocalized by their ideologues, have always justified the intolerance and carnage they indulge in. The way this is being 'enjoyed' on campuses of Kerala's educational institutions is a well known fact. Clubbed with anti-national student groups and backed by religious fundamentalist organizations, Kerala's college campuses have witnessed how Durgadas, PS Anu, Sujith, Kim Karunakaran, Bimbi, Murugananda, Vishal, Sachin Gopal and many others have been done away with. In fact, taking in specific, the murders of Anu, Sujith and Kim Karunakaran stand unparalleled in the history of campus politics.

Aahuti pays obeisance to the departed souls and bring before the nation, the sacrifice made by these martyrs. Their eternal absence has left families groping in the dark, in perpetual penury, as most of the victims have been from humble backgrounds, Dalit and other backward communities or the minority sections. These brave, unsung heroes would have been pillars of the nation's strength. Adding to the woes of the families of those slain is the fact that many of the surviving members are continually harassed by political goons, on flimsy or nonexistent allegations.

We extend our heartfelt gratitude to all who have helped us in every way possible, in this endeavour. We are grateful to the support from our ground level karyakartas, who toiled along with us in gathering and compiling data - our sincere thankfulness to karyakartas Shri VN Gopinathan, Shri Sohanlal Sharma and various organizations like Kesari Weekly, Janmabhumi Daily, Organiser, HaindavaKeralam.com, Samvada.org, Dr. Syama Prasad Mookerjee Research Foundation in special, for the same. And above all, deeply indebted to Shri BL Santhosh, National Joint General Secretary (Org.), Bharatiya Janata Party for his guidance and support, without which the conceptualization of this work remains incomplete.

केरल में कई दशकों से संघ और भाजपा कार्यकर्ता बलिदान देकर देश और अपनी विचारधारा के लिए कुर्बानी दे रहे हैं। आहुति उन सभी हुतात्माओं को विनम्र श्रद्धांजलि है।

केरल में जिस प्रकार की हिंसा की राजनीति चल रही है, उससे पूरा देश स्तब्ध है। स्वतंत्रता के पश्चात हमने लोकतंत्र अपनाया और लोकतंत्र में सत्ता प्राप्ति के लिए हिंसा का रास्ता चुनना हमने कभी स्वीकार नहीं किया। जिस प्रकार से राजनीति में हिंसा के माध्यम से सत्ता प्राप्ति तथा सत्ता में बने रहने का षड्यंत्र केरल में चल रहा है वह किसी भी परिस्थिति में असहनीय है। इस तरह की राजनीति लोकतंत्र तथा देश एवं समाज के लिये घातक है।

केरल में विधानसभा चुनाव के बाद भाजपा कार्यकर्ताओं पर जिस प्रकार के हमले हुए, उसे किसी भी रूप में सहन नहीं किया जा सकता। इस तरह की घटनाएँ अकेली नहीं, बल्कि इन घटनाओं की एक बड़ी श्रृंखला है, जिसमें षड्यंत्रपूर्वक ढंग से बड़ी निर्दयता से हत्याएँ की गई हैं। मार्क्सवादी-कम्युनिस्ट विचार वाले दल निरंतर अपने वर्चस्व के समक्ष उत्पन्न चुनौतियों का जवाब हिंसा से देते हैं। ऐसा इतिहास रहा है कि जब वैचारिक संघर्ष में हार होने लगती है, तब मार्क्सवादी दल हिंसा का सहारा लेने लगते हैं। पश्चिम बंगाल में भी यही हुआ था। जिस प्रकार की चुनौती भाजपा के समर्पित कार्यकर्ता केरल में दे रहे हैं, उसका जवाब कम्युनिस्ट दल हिंसा से देना चाहते हैं। यह कम्युनिस्ट दलों की वैचारिक एवं राजनैतिक हार है। हमारे निष्ठावान कार्यकर्ताओं के बलिदान से केरल में भी परिवर्तन का दौर आरंभ हो चुका है। मैं ऐसे सभी बलिदानियों को नमन करता हूँ और हर कार्यकर्ता का अभिनन्दन करता हूँ।

केरल की हिंसक राजनीति का पूरा चित्र अब भी देश के सामने नहीं आ पाया है। एक-दो वीभत्स घटनाएँ, जो राष्ट्रीय मीडिया में चर्चित हुईं, उनके अलावा अन्य कई घटनाओं से पूरा देश अनभिज्ञ है। ऐसी आशा है कि यह पुस्तिका उस कमी को पूरा करेगी और इसके माध्यम से पूरा देश इन भयानक घटनाओं की जान पायेगा। 'आहुति' सही मायने में हमारे राष्ट्रवादी कार्यकर्ताओं को देश सेवा में अपने प्राणों की आहुति देने वालों की एक गाथा है। यह पुस्तिका उनकी शौर्यपूर्ण स्मृतियों को एक विनम्र श्रद्धांजलि है।

The Communists captured power in Kerala in May 2016 by hoodwinking people with the development card. However, it is a well-known fact that they can never tolerate democratic opposition, which is mandatory for development. The only language they are familiar with is that of violence, which they indulge in unbridled, especially when they are in power.

With Communists returning to power, the saga of political violence makes a full throttle return, ofcourse, with their blessings. On the very day elections results were declared, they indulged in large-scale vandalism in the name of celebrations. This resulted in the snuffing of life of a young and promising youngster Pramod who had come down from UAE, with the sole intent of aiding BJP's campaign. From day one their message to the opposition was loud and clear- that they will continue to perpetrate violence, which they continue boldly, unrepentantly.

The challenges faced by us in the current scenario are manifold. Most of our karyakartas are from humble backgrounds, making them easy prey. In case of murder there is no compensation from the government and the family is left destitute. If maimed, medical expenses are huge. They are often left in the lurch with no means for treatment. Same is the case when they have to file a legal complaint in case of murder or an attempt to murder. Apart from struggling economically our karyakartas are socially boycotted for being associated with the party. Communists who portray themselves as champions of free speech remain intolerant to even a single word of criticism against them.

In this context, extolling and venerating the sacrifices made by our workers in upholding the ideals of our organization, I commend the initiative of Aahuti. With this book, Communist atrocities will now be made into a public record. It will be instrumental in charting our future course of actions as well.

I humbly seek help from our party leaders and karyakartas in exposing this political institutionalization of violence and exposing the actual intolerance brigade.

Our voices need to be amplified.

Prologue

Lessons of history suggest that no ideology has shed more blood than Communism, with the murders lying a notch above all other Fascist ideologies. Globally, it is synonymous with violence, brutality and totalitarianism. Unsurprisingly, 'Kannur Model' of CPI (M) too, where Swayamsevaks are perpetually targeted and murdered by Communists, is a natural corollary of Stalinist USSR or Maoist China where voice of dissent and opposition was crushed with the iron fist of party and State. Incidentally the term 'Kannur Model' (an effective way to silence any dissenting voice and assert political power of Communists in the region) has proved to be a template for the murders to follow in CPI (M) circles. Hence situation prevailing in Kannur and other communist strongholds is not a locally originated scenario.

The cruel and abhorrent blood sport of CPI (M) in Kerala, especially Kannur (which stands accounted for a disproportionately large number of casualties), started with the murder of Vadikkal Ramakrishnan, a Dalit in 1969. An active Swayamsevak, Ramakrishnan had brought in scores of Communists to the nationalist fold. Since then in Kerala, around 270 swayamsevaks and sympathisers have been murdered. Of these, 232 were killed by the CPI (M) and the rest mostly by Islamists. The number of injured is almost six times as much as the number of those who were murdered. In spite of this, police torturing and fake cases are quite common, especially when CPM/LDF is in power.

The main reason behind the attacks on our Karyakartas in Kannur is the flow of cadres from CPI (M) to the RSS. Most of our Karyakartas in North Kerala, especially Kannur, have a Communist past. And the RSS's unwillingness to submit to the terror and hegemony of CPM, especially in the strongholds of Kannur, is intolerable for them. Another objective of this unabated Red Terror on Hindu nationalists is to lure voters from the well entrenched Islamists, as a tool of CPM's perennial minority appeasement policy. They publicly boast about its attacks on the Sangh, just as the party holds 'Beef festivals' to tap fundamentalist votes.

The violence meted out is primarily meant to deter RSS's rank and file from growing further. Akin to other Semitic religions, apostasy is an unreasonable sin in Communism as well and is awarded with death. With CPM in power, Kerala has been witnessing a spate of violence and murders, as if Kannur Model is being promulgated in other parts of the state too. Both CPI (M) State Secretary Kodyeri and Kannur District Secretary P Jayarajan have openly called for violence on RSS and other nationalist organizations. In Thiruvananthapuram, BJP's state committee office was attacked by assailants and bombed thereafter.

Media in Kerala (with a few notable exceptions) is mostly controlled by Leftists or staffed by known Marxists. The 'cultural leaders', who are expected to raise the grievances of civil society, are scared of Marxist aggression. Tongues of Leftist intelligentsia have always been wagging in defence of CPM and its murder politics without any shame or remorse. Mainstream national media seems to be blissfully unaware of this grave situation and thereby has been turning a convenient blind eye. Civic society must come up against this state-sponsored terror. We hope, by documenting political violence and conducting seminars across the country to enlighten public regarding atrocities committed by Communists, the nation develops awareness against the real intolerance brigade lurking in the country.

J Nanda Kumar

Pranja Pravah Samyojak

Kannur district of Kerala has gained country wide publicity for the politics of violence lasting over four decades, which still continues unabated. It might appear strange that a state known for its near total literacy should have major pockets where people resort to brutal killings and arson on the basis of political and ideological differences and that it should continue for so long without any respite.

Right thinking people all over the country are naturally concerned about these uncivilized and inhuman trends of events

To find a lasting solution to these recurring problems, it is necessary to understand this phenomenon in a proper perspective. It has a long history of which the general public in Kerala, and much more so outside, is not aware. The deep seated hatred for the Sangh Parivar which is inbuilt in the Communist-Marxist psychology had first come to light way back in 1948 January when a protest procession organized by Communist inspired students barged into an RSS rally which was being addressed by Guruji Golwalkar at Thirvananthapuram. It had no provocation what so ever. In the year 1949 again there were two organized attacks, one at Kozhikode and the other at Alleppey where Sri Guruji was addressing gatherings of Sangh Swayamsevakas. At that period RSS was not a force to reckon with in Kerala. These attacks were pre-meditated and motivated by sheer intolerance and were totally unilateral.

As the Sangh grew and became more and more popular, vicious propaganda was unleashed by the Communist party and its media. It is in the 1950s that the RSS work spread into the northern part of Kerala, particularly Kannur district. Communist party had already made Kannur district its stronghold. RSS Pracharakas who went to Kannur for starting the work were not only threatened but socially boycotted, which included denial of boarding and lodging facilities. They had to take shelter in places like railway platforms. As Sangh work grew in spite of all these, physical attacks were resorted to. It continues to this day at varying degrees of intensity.

During Emergency period, there was a sort of informal truce because both the RSS and Communist party were victims of repression and persecution. In fact both spent their jail terms together in various cells. As consequence, when Emergency was lifted and elections held, both organizations worked almost hand in hand to defeat the Congress. But that was short-lived. RSS by its sincere participation in the anti Emergency struggle had earned wide popular support which was reflected in the voting pattern. It was obvious that Sangh had made in-roads into Marxist strongholds in Kannur district. This unnerved the Marxists. Thereafter they took to all sorts of hostile activities, including physical liquidation of Sangh and BJP workers. The 1980's saw a high tide of 'anti-Sangh murder-politics' which accounted for dozens of worker's lives lost.

Following these, there was a general uproar and leaders like EMS Nampoothirippad, EK Nayanar, BMS leader DP Thengidi and CITU leader P Ramamurthy used their good offices to bring about an improvement in the situation. There was a meeting of a few leaders in Kochi where an agreement was drafted. But the state level leadership of CPI(M) refused to follow up with it.

One strange and remarkable aspect of this politics of murder is that the CPI(M) did not confine its opposition to the Sangh and BJP alone. All other political parties were also at the receiving end. It was sheer intolerance, unbecoming and unacceptable in a democratic set up. The naked truth is that CPI(M) considers the whole of Kannur district as their sole preserve and they have a monopoly of power in the district. No other party could work unhindered and exercise their fundamental rights provided by the constitution. If anyone tries to break this unwritten law it would be at their own peril.

There is another subtle psychological reason for the CPI(M) to indulge in open attacks on Sangh Parivar. It is part of their strategy to win over massive minority support in the deeply communalized atmosphere in Kerala. Their open claim is that they are the only bulwark against the RSS from freely annihilating the minorities. It is CPI(M), they claim that gives protection to the minority communities from the threat of 'Hindu Fundamentalists'.

It is a well known fact, publicly admitted by one and all, except CPI(M) that in Kannur District there are many Panchayats with hundreds of polling booths where the fundamental rights of free democratic elections had never been allowed all these years because the Marxist Party physically takes control over them and decides who should vote and who shouldn't. This has created a fear psychology and an inferiority complex in the minds of workers and voters of all other parties in large areas of Kannur district. It is a matter of "CPI(M) controlled Democracy" and "CPI(M) managed elections". There is simmering discontent which no government could so far successfully address.

The latest series of killings have to be seen in the light of this long history of suppression, intolerance and physical aggression. Unless this truth is understood and the injustice involved is remedied, fully and absolutely, and free exercise of electoral right restored, there cannot be a peaceful and lasting solution. There is no piecemeal or halfhearted solution which can settle the issue once and for all.

It seems that there should be a three point agenda which should be understood and accepted by all parties concerned particularly by the CPI (M):

1. CPI(M) should abandon the doctrine of "Special Political Zone(SPZ)" sought to be imposed over Kannur district.
2. CPI(M) should accept that the Sangh movement is an abiding reality in Kannur district as much as in any other part of the Indian Republic. This is a hard fact which cannot be wished away or denied by the practice of the philosophy of liquidation. Shakhas are an inalienable part of it.
3. They should give up the vicious belief that RSS baiting including politics of murder can be a successful strategy to keep the minority community on their side in the electoral politics. Even the minorities are intelligent enough not to fall into the trap. Nor is it fair or practicable except for a short while, by misuse of Governmental machinery.

Violence for Utopia

- Meenakshi Lekhi,
Member of Parliament, New Delhi

“We should learn (how to kill adversaries) from Bengalis. They do it without shedding even a drop of blood. They (rivals) are kidnapped and buried in deep pits with a sack of salt added. The world will not (even) know about the blood, picture (of the victim) or news,” as quoted by Abdullakutty regarding a statement made by Pinaray Vijayan.

Recently, during my visit to the village of Pinarayi in Kannur, I witnessed heart-rending conditions, where residents spent their day to day life amidst of terror- a place where shameless Communist goons don't even spare children! From the little kids who witnessed the cold-blooded murder of KT Jayakrishnan Master to seven year old Karthik, whose hand was slashed after the election victory celebrations of Communists in 2016, generations suffer owing to due to the barbarism of red terror. When a person who asked fellow party men to follow the Bengal model of resorting to live burials of opponents after stuffing them inside salted sacks to avoid blood spill while they are being killed, now rules the state of Kerala, only God can save God's own country. Expecting justice and peace in Kerala from the Pinarayi Vijayan government is like giving a thief the key to your home.

In Kerala since 1957, the CPI (M) has maintained power as an influential political party. It has used assassination politics and Marxist fascism to the core to keep control over the electorate. Numerous BJP and RSS activists have been butchered in the state, mostly in North Kerala.

State sponsored political violence was never restricted to Kerala alone. In 1997, Buddhadeb Bhattacharjee, in reply to an Assembly question, said that between 1977 (when they came to power) and 1996, 28,000 political assassinations were done in West Bengal. Between 1997 and 2009 the total number of murders committed was 27,408. So a total of 55,408 people were annihilated by the communist regime. It means a yearly average of 1787, a monthly average of 149 and a daily average of five. In other words, in every four hours and 50 minutes, one person was killed for political reasons in West Bengal.

A former Member of Parliament from Communist party, AP Abdullakutty alleged that then Kerala CPI (M) state secretary Pinarayi Vijayan had asked party leaders to follow the “Bengal line” of killing political enemies without shedding a drop of blood. Abdullakutty writes that Vijayan said this in a party meeting held at Azhikodan memorial party office in Kannur on March 5, 2008, ahead of a peace meeting convened by the district collector following violence in Kannur. “We should learn (how to kill adversaries) from Bengalis. They do it without shedding even a drop of blood. They (rivals) are kidnapped and buried in deep pits with a sack of salt added. The world will not (even) know about the blood, picture (of the victim) or news,” Abdullakutty told media, quoting Pinarayi Vijayan. According to Kutty, apart from him, CPI (M) MPs P Karunakaran, P Sathidevi and CPI(M) MLAs from Kannur, also were present at the meeting.

In order to understand Communist intolerance, we need to take a look at global as well as domestic picture and identify the method in t misadness. Left-wing terrorism had its roots in 19th and early 20th-century anarchist terrorism and became pronounced during the Cold War. Modern left-wing terrorism developed in the context of the political unrest of 1968. In Western Europe, important groups of these included West German Red Army Faction (RAF), Italian Red Brigades, French Action Directe (AD), and Belgian Communist Combatant Cells (CCC). Asian groups have included Japanese Red Army and Liberation Tigers of Tamil Eelam, although the latter organisation later adopted nationalist terrorism. Joseph Stalin was as evil as Adolf Hitler and worse than Mussolini, killing millions of his own countrymen. Mao Tse Tung in China was another communist leader whose policies of dictatorship and state control resulted in millions of deaths. Numerous books were burnt and universities throughout the country closed down under Mao's cultural revolution from 1966-76.

The Communist leadership in India were not ideologically or physically bred in underground. Nor did they go through the hardship of jungles. Most of them were a privileged lot, who received their education in Oxford and Cambridge in the United Kingdom. It is here that they were indoctrinated by the former British masters and returned to India as diehard Communists. These so-called Communists were perfectly married to the British agenda of Pre-Colonial period. Left-liberalism was the perfect tool to legitimise Colonial rule as it robbed Indians of all sense of pride in India's past.

The leftist movement in India officially began in the 1920s with the formation of Communist Party of India (CPI). Indian Communist leaders have been from an English-educated, elite background. To them, Communism (or Marxism) was never an ideology to help the masses, but a fad that kept them apart as elites from the common people. They had always looked to the West for everything. So when India was fighting for her freedom, the Communists worked as agents of foreign governments like Germany, Russia, Britain and finally even Pakistan! However, the most subversive role of the Communist movement has been providing a philosophical and intellectual underpinning to all such anti-national movements. CPI leadership supported the two nation theory, and thus Pakistan's demand of Muslim League. They even accepted Sikhs' demand for a separate homeland. The Communists role during Quit India Movement is also well known. The stand of CPI during China War against India is most repugnant. It ranged from declaring “Chairman Mao, Our Chairman” to giving overt and covert support to China. After independence, the Communists struck a deal with the Nizam's Government in Hyderabad and joined hands with Razakars to fight Hyderabad's accession to India, with Pakistan's help.

The Communists had supported the Partition of India in 1947, China in the 1962 war, opposed India's Nuclear Tests in 1998 while supporting China's in 1964 and called Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose as 'Tojo's Dog', drawn a cartoon of a donkey with Netaji's face, etc. It was during the United Front government led by CPI (M) in 1967 that Kanu Sanyal began the Naxalbari movement, which resulted in the massacre of thousands of innocent people. On February 27, 2013, responding to Question Number 371, the Union Minister of State in Ministry of Home Affairs informed Rajya Sabha that since the year 2001 till 2013, the Left Wing Extremists had killed 7881 people in India.

Left-wing Extremism (LWE) continues to remain as one of the biggest challenges to India's internal security. Its intensity persisted especially in three states – Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand and Orissa – apart from a significant presence in West Bengal, Bihar, and Maharashtra. At the same time, left-wing extremists have successfully managed to penetrate into some of the states of North East and South of India and few of the urban areas.

Although reportedly Maoists collect Rs.1, 500 crores annually through extortion, there is no exact estimate of the enormity of Maoist economy. Their economy is based mainly on extortion money/levies—from business houses, road contractors, tendu contractors, bus and truck owners, petrol pumps and shopkeepers. It is suspected that Maoists are into poppy cultivation in their strongholds, in areas of Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Odisha and Bihar to finance their movement. Mining corporations also contribute to a great extent to their economy, as taxpayers to the Maoists.

Congress and Communists are two sides of the same coin. It is the Congress party which facilitated the Communists, to infiltrate every organ of the State. The closest incident which came to that was within 4 months of the formation of Sonia Gandhi's UPA 1 government when the CPI (Maoist), was founded on September 21, 2004, by way of an extra-constitutional authority called National Advisory Council (packed with Communists) who put in maximum effort to further the Communist agenda of their benefactor.

We have probably not even scratched the surface of the network of family and personal relationships through which the Nehru dynasty has completely dominated and controlled the entire intellectual, historical and journalistic landscape of India. Many 'top of the line' editors and reporters have been deeply connected with Left organisations directly and indirectly. The typical JNU Nehruvian Communist Left-Liberal ideologues have perpetrated some stranglehold on India's journalism, media and intellectual space and very cleverly influence public conscience. But when it comes to brutalities by Communists in Bengal and elsewhere, they choose to be silent.

Utopia was never meant to work. Although Leftists portray Kerala, God's own country as a perfect society—a Utopia—where all can live in peace and happiness, facts released by National Crime Records Bureau tell a different story. The Left rules their stronghold areas like gulags and sponsor not only assassinations but also protect killers. And if they are convicted, their families too stand protected. They maintain absolute power with no freedom of expression in the red corridors. Women, children and even Dalits are ostracised if they fail to comply with the diktats of party goons. Media and intelligentsia have been abetting crime by trivialising the unlawful actions of 'comrades'. Unless proven otherwise, in political murders, the state-police leadership must initiate criminal prosecution not only against the criminals but also against those political leaders who ensure that these crimes take place. State governments must undertake actions to provide compensation for victims of brutal political holocausts in the killing fields of Bengal and Kerala.

Will there ever be a time of peace and political freedom in Kerala?

Death staring at their Faces, the Students Ran for Dear Life and Plunged into the Raging River Pamba

It was on 17 September 1996 that the horrific Parumala murder took place. Three Akhila Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad activists- Anu, Sujith and Kim, who were students of Devaswom Board College, Parumala, were cornered by a violent mob of SFI, CITU and DYFI goons. The gang threatened to kill them, owing to their active participation in the college ABVP unit. Fearing that death was just a few inches away, the students ran for dear life and jumped into River Pamba, hoping to swim across to safety. But the heartless Marxists goons pelted stones with such severity that the boys found it impossible to swim across the tide.

There were a few womenfolk who stood witness to the entire incident, who were washing clothes. They tried to rescue the boys by throwing their sarees into the water, hoping that the boys could catch hold of them and climb to safety. But the women were menacingly chased away by the SFI goons, who showered abuses and pelted stones at them. The helpless women had no option but flee the place. And much to the glee of the sadistic goons, the boys were drowned.

Kerala was ruled by Communists then, who did away with every shred of evidence. They even went to the extent of manipulating the post-mortem report. A fresh testimony was created, stating that the boys were drunk, which led to their being drowned. With the aid of these forged evidences, the Marxist leadership successfully won the case. In fact, when the matter was raised in Kerala Assembly by then MLA TM Jacob, EK Nayanar who was Chief Minister then, asked in a ridiculing manner "why it mattered so much for you,since they belonged to the RSS"!!!

An incident as shocking as Paumala murder stands as being one of the rarest when it comes to the horrors of campus murders. Both Kim and Anu was the only child of their parents. Anu, at the time of death, was the secretary of the college Art's Club. A multi- talented personality, he was always in the forefront of any extra- curricular activity, be it arts or sports. An all rounder, he had proven his versatility in the rendition of mridangam and tabla as well. Academically brilliant, Anu was member of the junior football team of Pathanamthitta district. His parents, both retired now (father PC Sasidharan Nair is a retired postal service employee and mother, a retired school teacher) languish in the memory of their dear son, living amidst those numerous trophies and citations that stand testimony to their son's brilliance, which was cruelly snatched away.

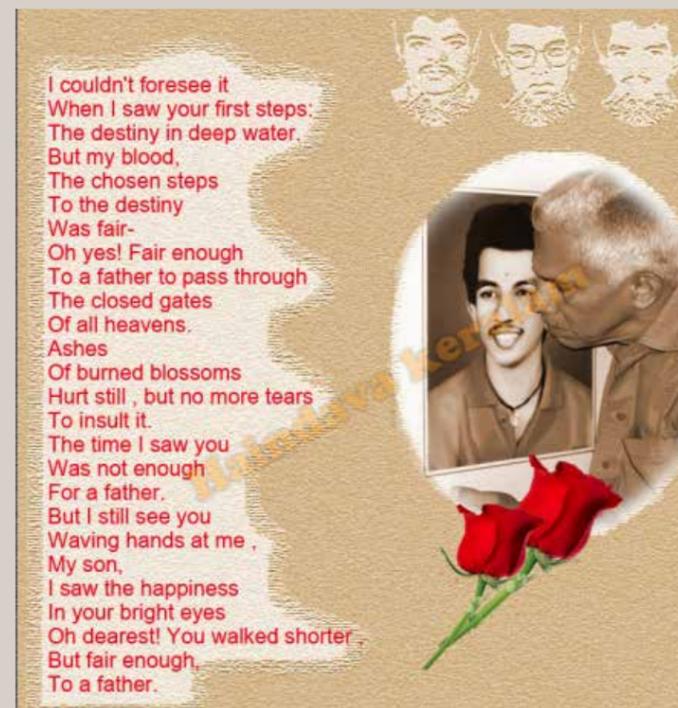

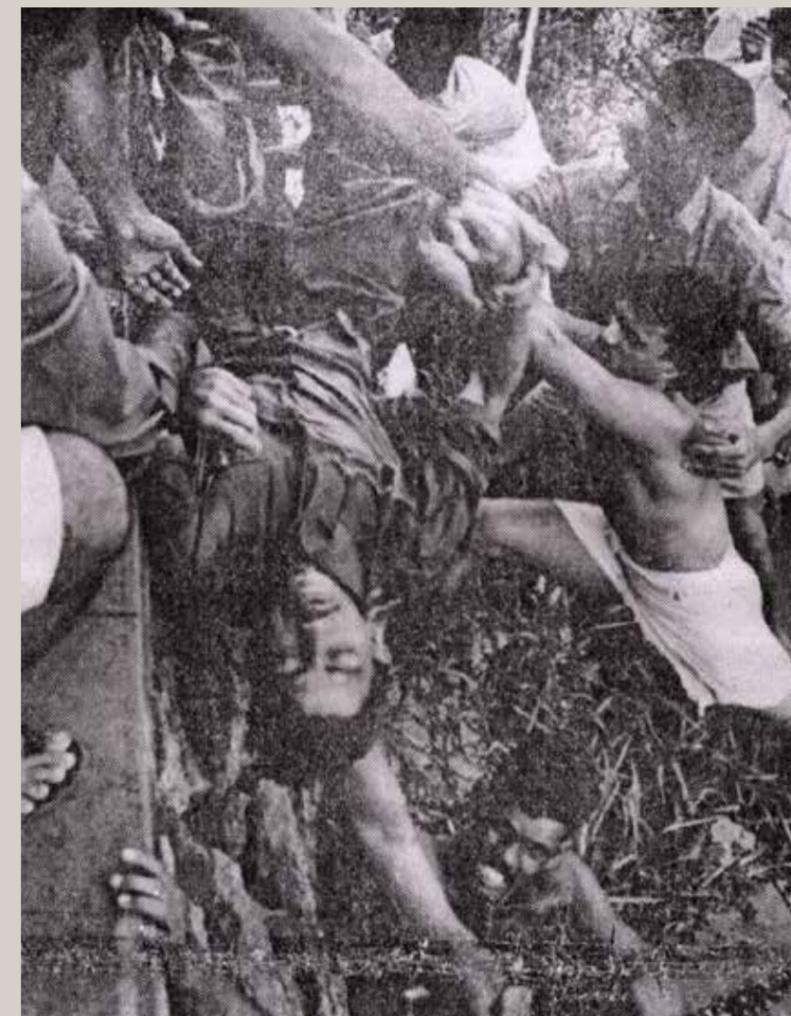

Like Anu, Kim too was the only son of his parents. His parents plunged into a state of extreme shock, after hearing the news of her son's murder, from which they could never recover. Both parents passed away thereafter. His parents had built a Sree Narayana Guru Smriti Mandiram in memory of their son.

Sujith's father Sivadasan Nair, who was working abroad, resigned his job and reached home turf following his son's murder. He continues to live in dejection, pining away at the sheer injustice meted out to his son.

Following the murder of BJP karyakartas Shimjith and Kunjumon Narayanan on 2 January 2002, by NDF led Islamic fundamentalists, with the aid of workers of Muslim League, on the beach of Marad, Kozhikode, the area continued to remain tense. Trouble brewed once again on the fateful night of 2 May 2003, when a large mob of around a hundred armed Islamist fundamentalists arrived in boats at night. Another large gang eased out of a house near Marad Juma Masjid. Armed with swords and machetes, clutching Coke cans filled with gelatin, they rushed in from all directions and within minutes, they wrecked havoc hacking the eight BJP karyakartas who were relaxing on the beach, after a hard day's fishing. Chandran, Dasan, Gopalan, Krishnan, Madhavan, Prajeesh, Pushparaj and Santhosh were hacked to death and their bodies mutilated. Even their private organs gouged out. The killers then escaped into the local Juma Masjid.

The perpetrators also threw bombs with the purpose of afflicting a larger number of deaths. However the bombs did not explode. A sizeable cache of swords, knives and bombs were stored in the Marad Juma Masjid, which was later confiscated by police. The cache was supposed to have been kept ready, with intent of unleashing a mass massacre, which fortunately did not take place.

The Marad Massacre revealed before the state, the fast emerging religious fundamentalism in Kerala, to which investigating agencies seemed to have had an easygoing approach. Investigations unearthed a huge cache of weapons including 17 bombs. According to former police commissioner, “It was an operation carried out by a well-knit organization. It was a quick and sudden onslaught which was over in 10 minutes. The attack came from a particular community.”

Police also recovered explosives and arms from the local Juma Masjid two days after the killings. A special investigation team of Kerala Crime Branch filed charge sheets against 147 people accused of involvement or complicity in the crime. (According to the Marad Commission report, the notes prepared by then Kozhikode Police Commissioner speak of hundreds of local Muslim women converging at the mosque to prevent the police from entering it and arresting the murderers).

There was public uproar against the same, which was following by persistent demands for a judicial enquiry. Under pressure, the ruling UDF government under AK Anthony appointed Thomas P Joseph (District & Sessions Judge) as the Commission of Inquiry. The report was submitted in February 2006, with the LDF ministry tabling the report in September 2006.

In a fraction of a second, seven CPI (M) activists entered the classroom, shouted slogans and warned the students against making any kind of movement. They proceeded to block the classroom's entrance, took sword-sticks and razors in their hands, came near Jayakrishnan Master and hacked him numerous times. Jayakrishnan Master fell on the floor. The savagery of Left wing violence often competes with Talibans who continuously harass surviving family members of slain political rivals on flimsy or non-existent allegations.

India is passing through a phase of war between Dharmic and Adharmic elements, as is being discerned from Kashmir to Chattisgarh, Northeast and more precipitately in Kerala, which was once known as 'God's Own Country'.

It has been a war against those who stand for the civilisational values of Bharat and have been resisting the predatory tactics of foreign invaders since many centuries. Though exterior forms have changed, the purpose of the enemies of Hindu dharmic society and traditions remain the same- elimination of everything that represents the fragrance of the soil and impose alien, de-Indianized ideology by changing mindset. It is the same colonial hawkish mentality that has turned a section of people against their own blood brothers, unleashing a regime of terror. It is brazen violation of constitutional freedom guaranteed to all citizens and exhibits an anti-democratic, anti-pluralistic attitude.

It's not just the alien ideologies and mindset that is at work but funds and strategic training too have an alien colour. The peaceful, progressive and cultural stream of the Hindus now face unprovoked assaults from the likes of notorious Nazi hate brigades and the commissar's brutal guerrilla warfare of Stalinist and Pol Pot eras.

Competing with the ISIS, Left wing Communist terrorism has become a major threat to security and human rights of Indian citizens. It is ironical that neither in Parliament nor out of it, a discussion on terrorism of Communist variety has never been allowed to be raised. If discussed and debated upon, the issue would lead to the building of a consensus for its decisive elimination.

India's southern state Kerala has fallen prey to such ideological terrorism and these de-Indianized elements have turned the state into a land of political bloodshed. The selective brutal murders of patriotic young Indians, which have come out in open point towards an unholy nexus between Left extremists, Islamists and intolerant radical evangelists. In fact the savagery of Left wing violence now stands on par with Talibans.

The saga of Communist intolerance stemmed up in 1957, when the first elected Marxist government under CPI (M) leader EMS Namboothiripad took over the state's reins. It has resulted in a spate of ideological violence against RSS, ABVP, VHP and Jansangh- BJP workers. CPI and CPI (M) have spared no efforts in turning Kerala into a bloody battlefield of political murders, giving the state the top spot in murders. Their unethical acts are accompanied by the most philistine and uncivilized scenes, as can be seen from the manslaughter of Jayakrishnan Master. His crime was adherence to nationalism.

Left political games of Kerala are grotesque and misshapen, leaving the state's soul deformed. This unsightliness has crept its way into educational institutions and universities, where the agents of intolerance promote the ideology of violence and carnage, conveniently under 'freedom of expression'. And this is no dark secret!

I salute the efforts of all who have made Aahuti possible. I earnestly hope that the saga of these martyrs will inspire the nation to stand up against violent acts and defeat extremism, thus ushering in peace and tranquility in a state that is truly 'God's Own Country'.

Our homage and pranams at the feet of all who have sacrificed their lives for Mother India!

Even though he was rushed to hospital, he died on the way, owing to heavy loss of blood. Six CPM activists were arrested in connection with the murder.

The brutal murder sent shock waves all over the country, the murder taking place in the constituency of Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan. Marxist violence and zeal for bloodshed caught nationwide attention, with the issue being debated and discussed in mainstream national media.

Poetry camps were extensively conducted in Kerala, with verses being penned towards exposing the bestiality of Marxist agenda. A video featuring Santhosh's daughter Vismaya, questioning the terrible deed, titled 'Our Tears are Joyous for you?' was released. It became viral in both mainstream and social media. The heartrending cry of a daughter seeking to know why her father was done away with, for the sole reason of having proffered support for RSS and BJP, coupled with her fears and anxiety about her future forms the dénouement of the video.

Aahuti - The Untold Stories of Sacrifice in Kerala

student, he was detained by Communist goons in the wee morning hours of 1 January at Kottayamkaadu, where he was stabbed to death. Sujith's friend Akhil suffered grievous injuries on his torso and thighs.

Radhakrishnan, Vimala Devi

Martyred: 06, 16 January 2017

A well known Bharatiya Janata Party karyakarta of Kanjikode area, Palakkad, Radhakrishnan was mandalam committee member. Vimala Devi, Radhakrishnan's sister-in-law, was an active member of Mahila Morcha. The sterling performance put up by BJP in Kanjikode during the state assembly elections of 2016 made the CPI (M) jittery. With this, Kanjikode, which has always been yet a hotbed of Marxist macabre, began witnessing a spate of attacks on BJP karyakartas, unleashed by the red brigade. In fact, Vimala's husband Kannan was a victim of continuous death threats.

CPM assailants vandalized Radhakrishnan's house, setting ablaze bikes that were parked in the courtyard. The incident took place in the wee morning hours of 28 December, when the entire family was in deep slumber. The distraught family members were trying to douse the fire, when a gas cylinder placed in the verandah exploded. Radhakrishnan's brother Kannan, a former panchayat member and his wife Vimala, and Selvaraj, his nephew were badly injured in the explosion. They were rushed to the medical college hospital in Thrissur.

Radhakrishnan who suffered 70% burns succumbed to his injuries on 6 January 2017 .and Vimala Devi who suffered 80% burns died on 16 January 2017.

Amidst the scenario of Kerala's political murders, Marxists have, via Kanjikode mass murder, successfully showcased a new genre of brutality. Only apostles of political ideology, who are bereft of humanity, will undertake as their endeavour, the task of charring to death a family, at a time the members of the family are fast asleep.

Kanjikode murders reveal the incident's proximity with another murder which took place in early eighties, at a time when the coastal area of Thrissur was being ravaged by Communists. Two BJP karyakartas Rajan and Subramanian were doused with petrol and burnt alive by the blood thirsty Communists. Other incidents that draw parallel- setting to flames Parassinikadavu Snake park, where it was proved that the setting of flames was no coincidence. Even the cowshed at Kannan's residence was not spared. Kanjikode will remain etched in people's mind. Widespread protests rose all over Kerala as a mark of protesting against the incident, which shook the entire state.

CPI-CPM clashes: speaks a lot about the violent Left

When one looks at the murderous saga of CPI and CPM, when sickles and hammers have clashed aimlessly in their own midst, a total of 23 murders have been committed in Kerala, out of which CPI has lost 16 party-men and the CPM, seven. In some of the instances, party members are said to have hired quotation teams to execute murderous tasks. The first to fall victim to such murder spree by the hiring of quotation teams is CPI leader of Koilandy, Chathothu Sreedharan Nair. The second is Subhash, of Pettah, Tripunithura, who was murdered in 1989. He was AITUC member. The murder was executed by notorious quotation team 'Eighteen and Half Company'.

In 1992, in Muvattupuzha district, CPI allegedly unleashed terror against CPM activists. In the attack that took place, CPM branch secretary of Payipra KM Kunju Baba was stabbed to death. However, no one stands convicted for the murder that took place.

In Kottayam district, the CPM is said to have done away with three CPI activists. Raghu, a native of Sankranthi, TK Thankappan, native of Nattakam, Kooralli Sreedharan Pillai. Thankappan was CPI state committee member as well. In an altercation that took place in 1972, former district panchayat president VK Gopinath sustained grievous injuries.

Following the split in the Communist party in Palakkad district, the number of those murdered in CPI and CPM stands escalated. When CPI declares the names of Velappan of Kizhakkancherry Balan, Mangalam Dam Jose as those murdered, CPM retaliates with the names of Kuttan, Velayudhan, Kunjali are the 'CPM martyrs'. The murders have taken place between 1964 and 1973. Soon after this span, the murder of Kottekkadu Mukramkadam Bhavadas, a CPI leader who was Kisan Sabha district president and vice president of Marutha Road panchayat, in Palakkad district resulted in the two factions indulging in open vitriol against each other. Later, the sole witness in the murder was brutally done away with.

47 year old Chathothu Sreedharan Nair of Koilandy was murdered out of vengeance in his wife's residence in Cherootti Road, Kozhikode, because he chose to leave CPM and move to CPI folds. Along with him, 60 others too migrated to the CPI arena. This led to the party becoming a stronghold in Koilandy. CPI has alleged that a quotation team hired by CPM. Alappuzha stands witness to the never ending strife between CPI and CPM, with six lives having been claimed by the warring factions.

CPM comrades allegedly hacked to death AP Mohanan of CPI, on 26 June 1986, in front of his mother Kunjipennu. The reason was Mohanan's step towards initiating a peace talk between the warring CITU and AITUC of Paravoor. He was chased out of his house by the attackers, when he had just sat for a lunch prepared by his mother. Mohanan was cornered within 20 km of his residence and murdered. The murderers, numbering 19, were summoned by the parent party CPM. In spite of their having been sentenced to life imprisonment, they walked out their prison term, without completing it, thanks to the interference of then EK Nayanar government. The CPI continues to believe that the real culprits have not been brought to book.

CPI's Vijayan, was murdered at Kottarappalam. As he tried to take refuge behind a police personnel, Marxist attackers beat up the policeman and went ahead with the murder. Mannar Pavukkara Unnikrishnan, PK Viswanathan of Manjeri, Kainakkari Raghuappan are amongst those CPI activists who were allegedly murdered by CPM cadres.

On 20 June 1978, CPM leader CG Sudheendran, a teacher in Alappuzha Muhammadans High School was murdered while he was at his ancestral home at Kalarkkode. The CPI assailants lay in wait for him inside the house, as he entered, to convey to his mother, the news of his daughter Renu having secured a job in SBT. All the eight were convicted, with one being conferred a life sentence.

Balakrishnan of CPM was murdered in an almost similar style, almost three decades back, when Aravukodu temple festivities were going on. Balakrishnan, a KSYF activist was on his way to get a tape repaired, when he was allegedly confronted by CPI activists. He was murdered, with over 46 hacks on his body.

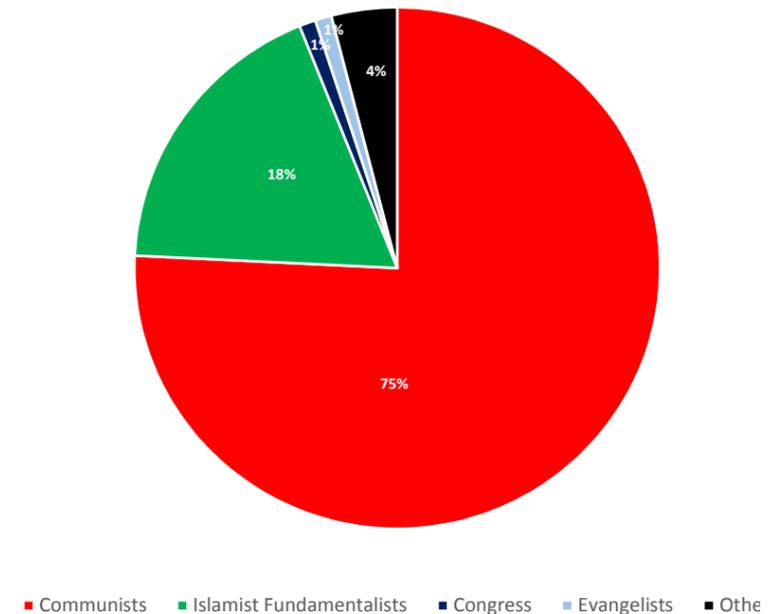

In 1972, CPI Thiruvalla taluk committee secretary Pullat NT Thomas was allegedly murdered by CPM activists at Anjilathanam. The murder took place when peace talks to settle an ongoing unrest among farmers turned violent.

Kollam district has stood witness to umpteen instances of strife between CPI and CPM. But the murder of Saiju (AIYF) is one that remains fresh in the minds of CPI activists- one that will ensure that the gaping rift between the two political factions remains sore forever.

Epilogue

Kerala has always promoted itself as a peaceful state with secular credentials. The state takes great pride in proclaiming about co-existence of all religions, with no incidences of rioting. However, reality is a far cry from what appears on the surface. Beneath the peaceful façade of Kerala lurks the dark underbelly of political violence and extermination. According to a report in the Financial Express, Kerala has had more “political riots” than any other state, with more than half of India’s cases. In 2015, Kerala recorded 164 rioting cases per million population- the country’s highest rate, followed by Bihar (129) and Karnataka (126). National Crime Records Bureau (NCRB) data shows that Kerala in 2015, has raced ahead of bigger and more populous states in recording political or student riot cases. Students of colleges, many of which are politically affiliated, are known to routinely clash against police forces and against each other at major public places.

India is the fourth worst affected country, when it comes to terrorism. Maoists continue to be the biggest threat to Indian state. Data collected by the National Consortium for Study of Terrorism and Responses to Terrorism contracted with the US State Department has revealed that Taliban, Islamic State and Boko Haram are the three deadliest terror groups globally. These have been followed by CPI (Maoist), a banned outfit. The report entails the mammoth diversity in the perpetrators/terrorist groups involved in attacks in the country, with 45 outfits active across the country. Naxals alone have accounted for 43% of terror strikes in India last year.

In a discourse on Kerala’s political killings, on why is it important to mention CPI(M) and the alarming statistics mentioned above, we see that it is a very vital link; for these are the ideological mentors of the ruling Communist Party in Kerala- CPI (M), as much as they would like to distance themselves. Communists world over believe in only one ideology, “power by any means”. Communist regimes across the world have killed approximately 100 million people. To take a look at the figures in India, in 1997 Buddhadeb Bhattacharjee brazenly stated in reply to a question in the assembly that between 1977 (when they came to power) and 1996, 28,000 political murders were committed. The enormity of this statement dawns on us when we figure out that an average of 125.7 murders were affected in a month. That means the daily rate of murder was four. If one were to pose this question today in the Kerala assembly, the figures would here run into thousands too.

Academicians, leftists and so called seculars continue to hail and harp the Kerala model of development but the general public remains unaware of the cost of this development. When Communists gained power by the ballot in 1957 for the first time in Kerala, they brought along with them the political philosophy of suppressing dissent by indulging in political killings. These ‘mafia’ killings have been a continuing trend in Kerala for the last six decades. Irrespective of whether in power or not the spate of killing people opposed to their ideology has remained the same. The Communist Party has been wedded to the cult of violence to achieve its political objective. Murder is a political instrument in their hands.

The entire exercise of documenting the atrocities perpetrated by Communists unabatedly is just a beginning. Kerala has lost hundreds of young nationalists in their fight against this totalitarian regime. We need to focus on bringing this truth to the general public. And this is just a beginning in the direction.

We have made every possible effort in collecting details pertaining to martyrs, from various sources. However there could be omissions, which could have happened unknowingly. We apologize for the same. We also request an update in case of any exclusion or error regarding data or names, in connection with the book. The same would be incorporated in the next edition.

The first edition of 'Aahuti' was released by Prime Minister Shri. Narendra Modi on 25 September 2016 at the National Council Meeting of Bharatiya Janata Party, Kozhikode

The book release of Aahuti was rendered by Honourable Prime Minister of India Shri Narendra Modi, on 25 September 2016. Paying obeisance to the Balidanis and hailing their efforts as penance, Shri Narendra Modi pointed out in clear terms that violence, as a way, is undemocratic", which should "never be resorted to", just because one "fails to tow in line" with the ideology of another political faction. "The helpless cries of Kerala's karyakartas have probably not reached Delhi. But today, I urge our karyakartas not to treat Aahuti as just another book you received during your stay in Kerala. Instead Aahuti should be debated upon and contemplated over, in all states of Bharat, atleast in three or four venues repectively, so that the voice (of those who have been wronged) reach Delhi.

"Shri Narendra Modi also urged the entire nation to stand up with the slain Karyakartas, for "their life and sacrifice remains exemplary and should serve as catalyst in stirring awake the flames of democracy, over which intellectuals and other esteemed seers must ponder over. "
